

SCOUTMASTER'S MINUTE • GRATITUDE

The Meal Someone Else Cooked

Any Meeting

After a Hard Campout

Somebody cooked tonight's meal, and somebody else cleaned up after it, and most of us didn't think twice about either. That's usually how the good things in our lives work — someone, somewhere, did the unglamorous work that made it possible, and we barely notice. Tonight, notice. Find the person who cooked or cleaned and actually say thank you, specifically, for that.